

Sponsor & Support Collaboration

Earth Science Information Professionals (ESIP) is where the world's leading data scientists and researchers gather to share solutions, build skills, and connect. We empower innovative use and stewardship of Earth science data to solve challenges.

We're not just the usual 'panel and presenter' conference.

Our session topics are...

- Driven by community
- Refined with the help of professional session designers and facilitators
- Interactive and productive

People leave our sessions with action plans and new partners.

Our small size and generous session breaks intentionally foster networking across subject matter and levels of experience. We bring together more than 400 people every year across sectors, domains, and career stages.

Demonstrate leadership and expertise.

We are a home for Earth science data professionals. Sponsors help people connect. Our hybrid format enables access; your sponsorship ensures we can make our meetings open to the whole Earth science data community.

Build relationships across agencies and sectors.

ESIP is 77% federally funded. Your sponsorship allows us to continue the full range of community priorities and help anyone facing a career transition to receive financial support to help them attend the ESIP Meeting in July.

Acquire new leads and recruit top talent.

Our community includes hundreds of meeting attendees, dozens of dedicated volunteer leaders, and thousands of participants in our Slack discussions, Collaboration Areas, and outreach. With a newsletter open rate often above 50% and double digit engagement rates on LinkedIn, your company will be seen.
